Phase I 1-4 Unit Housing Study

Emma Siegworth Planning & Economic Development presented Phase I of the housing study. Phase 1 of the study focused on small housing, accessory dwelling units, and small parcels; these amendments were adopted by the City Council on January 19, 2022.

Co-hosting February 10th 1-4 Unit Housing Study Community Engagement Session-replace February's meeting: Virtual Engagement Sessions

We are co-hosting one of three virtual engagement sessions to learn more about the 1-4 unit Housing Study and to share ideas on opportunities for the City to add more neighborhood-scale housing. The session will include a presentation on the study, followed by small group discussions and sharing time. Each session is open to everyone, but discussion may become focused on specific areas of the city. A motion to cancel the February Land Use & Housing meeting so members are able to attend the community engagement session with the understanding any action items will be dealt with by an email vote or quick meeting was M/S/A

Jason Peterson: Neighborworks Home Partners

Jason Peterson thanked the committee for the continued support and reported that Neighborworks reached the million dollar mark in investments in the North End

Large Area Plan-Land Use & Housing

Members were asked to look at the activities in the current plan and start discussing other priorities regarding land use and housing. Staff will put the plan on Trello next week.
